

Profile

Data Imaging Solutions Corporation was established in 1992 originally as a microfilm bureau service. With the support of our strong client base, in 1995 DISC was one of the first companies in the document storage industry to replace our microfilm equipment with imaging technology. DISC is now recognised as being one of the most experienced imaging bureaus in Australia. We are constantly researching and diversifying within a wide range of products to support and provide our clients with a total document management solution.
